

Croft can supply high quality Last Chance Filters and can offer a variety of assemblies to suit any business sector.

These filters will provide final protection of critical components from in-built and system generated contaminants - these filters are often used as a barrier.

These filters are designed to interface with customer units and are supplied to customer specifics - manufactured exact to your requirements.

LAST CHANCE FILTERS